SOPHOS

Cybersecurity Made Simple.

Modern IT environments continue to get more complex, but your IT security doesn't have to. From network to endpoint to server security, our products are designed to eliminate complexity.

Security shouldn't slow you down. That's why we keep resource impact low. And we work to make deployment, setting policy, and clean-up easy. We give you protection wherever you need it: computers, laptops, mobile devices, virtual desktops and servers, as well as your network, and your web and email gateways.

Complete security means we don't just detect threats—we help you address every point in the security lifecycle. That's why industry analysts such as Gartner recognize us as a market leader for malware protection, data security, and network security.

Network Protection

Our network security products include firewall, Wi-Fi, VPN, web, and email protection. You'll have complete control over the security features you need all in one place. Plus, our UTM is easy to deploy and manage so your users are always protected, wherever they roam.

XG Firewall
Next-Gen network protection.

Secure Web Gateway
Web security, control, and insight.

SG UTM

Synchronized Security

By automating threat discovery, investigation, and response, Synchronized Security revolutionizes threat detection. Incident response times are reduced exponentially and tactical resources can be refocused on strategic analysis. The Sophos Security Heartbeat™ is a cybersecurity system that enables your defenses to be more coordinated than the attackers.

Sophos Central

Sophos Central is the cloud-based unified management console that allows you to manage all your Sophos products from a single interface. It enables the Synchronized Security platform to share endpoint and network security status data through the Security Heartbeat™. In addition, Sophos Central lets partners manage multiple customer installations from a single, intuitive interface. Making it easier to respond to alerts, manage licenses, and track upcoming renewal dates.

SophosLabs

Using the most advanced data science technologies, our machine learning-based analytics system processes millions of suspicious emails, URLs, files, and other data points at light speed to deliver comprehensive threat and malware analysis. With facilities on three continents, the team of researchers work around the clock to discover and prevent unknown threats, investigate edge cases, examine trends, and fine-tune Sophos products for maximum defense.
